History Of Indian Football

- 🏈 Football introduced: Football was introduced to India by British in the mid-nineteenth century. It spread because of the efforts of Nagendra Prasad Sarbadhichary. In 1888 the Durand Cup was founded by then India's Foreign Secretary, Mortimer Durand at Simla, India.
- 🏈 The mega leap: The major event that showed a rise in Indian Football was in 1911 when Mohun Bagan beat East Yorkshire Regiment 2-1 in the final of the IFA Shield.
- 🏈 India qualified by default for the 1950 FIFA World Cup finals as a result of the withdrawal of all of their scheduled opponents. But the governing body AIFF opposed. Reason shown by AIFF was the cost of travel, lack of practice time, team selection issues and valuing Olympics over FIFA World cup.
- 🏈 The Golden Era of Indian Football: The period from 1951 to 1962 is considered the golden era in Indian football. Under the tutelage of legendary Syed Abdul Rahim India became the best team in Asia. The Indian team started the 1950s with victory in the 1951 Asian Games which they hosted.
- 🏈 Post-Golden Era: Rahim's death in early 60s plagued Indian football. India played in the 1966 Asian Games in Bangkok but were eliminated in the first round. India then took third place in the 1970 Asian Games, beating Japan 1-0 in the third place, play-off.
- 🏈 1985-2000: India won gold medals in the SAF Games of both 1984 (in Dhaka) and 1987 (Calcutta). They won the inaugural SAARC Cup in 1993 in Lahore, and finished runner's-up in Colombo two years later. By 1997 the competition had been renamed as the SAFF Cup, and India won it in both 1997 and 1999 edition, when they hosted it in Goa.
- 🏈 The rebirth of Indian Football: Although India failed to qualify for the 2004 Asian Cup, the senior team gained the silver medal in the inaugural Afro Asian Games, with victories over Rwanda and Zimbabwe. Losing the final 1-0 to Uzbekistan. Indian football has steadily earned greater recognition and respect, both within the country and abroad. In November 2003 then-India coach Stephen Constantine was named AFC Manager of the Month.
- 🏈 2011: The 2011 AFC Asian Cup: In the beginning of 2011 India took part in the AFC Asian Cup for the first time in 27 years. India were placed in Group C with Australia, Bahrain, and South Korea. On 10 January 2011 India played their first match against Australia where they lost 4-0.
- 🏈 2011: A new beginning: Since the 2011 Asian Cup the All India Football Federation has been working very hard on Indian Football. They allowed former coach Bob Houghton to coach the Indian side in the 2012 AFC Challenge Cup qualifiers. India played its first match in 2012 AFC Challenge Cup qualification on 21 March winning 3-0 against Chinese Taipei, with Jewel Raja Shaikh, Sunil Chhetri and Jeje Lalpekhlua scoring the goals.

History of Football

The earliest form of Football recognised by FIFA is EPISKYROS which is a Greek Game played as early as 388 BC.

Every country around the world in the early days had a game where a ball was kicked around. CUJU is supposed to be the earliest form of a competitive game used as a kind of martial exercise by the Chinese Military as far back as the 3rd Century BC.

Football in its many versions is played almost across the globe. Even Vatican City has a team.

As per FIFA Football is played in almost 200 countries by about 250 million people.
