A TEAM IS
MANY HANDS & ONE MIND

Once Krishna and Arjuna were walking towards a village. Arjuna was pestering Krishna, asking him why Karna should be considered a role model for all Danas (donations) and not himself. Krishna, wanting to teach him a lesson snapped his fingers. The mountains beside the path they were walking on turned into gold. Krishna said "Arjuna, distribute these two mountains of gold among the villagers, but you must donate every last bit of gold". Arjuna went into the village, and proclaimed he was going to donate gold to every villager and asked them to gather near the mountain. The villagers sang his praises and Arjuna walked towards the mountain with a huffed-up chest. For two days and two continuous nights Arjuna shovelled gold from the mountain and donated to each villager. The mountains did not diminish in their slightest.

Most villagers came back and stood in queue within minutes. After a while, Arjuna, started feeling exhausted, but not ready to let go of his ego just yet, told Krishna he couldn't go on any longer without rest. Krishna called Karna. "You must donate every last bit of this mountain, Karna" he told him. Karna called two villagers. "You see those two mountains?" Karna asked, "those two mountains of gold are yours to do with as you please" he said and walked away.

Arjuna sat dumbfounded. Why hadn't this thought occurred to him? Krishna smiled mischievously and told him "Arjuna, subconsciously, you yourself were attracted to the gold, you regretfully gave it away to each villager, giving them what you thought was a generous amount. Thus, the size of your donation to each villager depended only on your imagination. Karna holds no such reservations. Look at him walking away after giving away a fortune, he doesn't expect people to sing his praises, he doesn't even care if people talk good or bad about him behind his back. That is the sign of a man already on the path of enlightenment".

THE WAY TO GIVE THE PONTING WAY

Here's a little story about Ricky Ponting, arguably one of cricket's all-time greats.

Ponting is one of only three cricketers to have scored over 13000 runs in test cricket. He has to his credit over 70 centuries in tests and one day internationals. And when it comes to placing the ball and finding the gaps in the field, Ponting was acknowledged as the complete master.

Someone once asked him the secret to his ability to find the gaps in the field. His answer was simple, yet revealing. He said, 'Every batsman surveys the field before taking strike, and usually the fielders get imprinted on his mind. They can almost see every fielder in their mind's eye. But in my head, I don't see the fielders. I only see the gaps!' And that as his tally of runs shows made all the difference. We could all take a leaf out of Ponting's book. Don't focus on the obstacles. Look instead for the opportunities. Because life in many ways is like a game of cricket. Your job is to score runs.

There will be fielders out there who will stop you from scoring those runs. There will be an opposing captain who will try his hardest to place the fielders in a manner that will make it difficult for you to score those runs. Your job is to find the gaps. We all face problems in our lives. We encounter hurdles that seem to block our progress.

We get obsessed with the hurdle and fail to observe the opportunities that may be opening up in front of us. We focus on the problem rather than on the solutions. And as psychologists have proved, what your mind focuses on, tends to grow. Focus on the problem, and it will look bigger and more difficult. Focus on your ability to solve the problem and bingo! you will feel more empowered to take on challenges. Has it happened to you that you accidentally hit your foot against a table and hurt your little toe?

That little toe-niggle seems to be on your mind all the time. And more often than not you will find yourself banging the same toe again and again. What you focus on tends to grow! How often has it happened that someone told you, 'Be careful, don't drop the glass!' And crash you dropped it!

There's a story that a former West Indian wicket-keeper likes to tell. He says it changed his approach to the game and life itself. Playing a test match, he hurt a finger rather badly while attempting a difficult catch. He was in considerable pain, and went off the field to have it attended to. Meanwhile, the team had to make do with a make-shift wicket keeper and that wasn't helping the team's cause. The coach wanted the injured wicket-keeper to get back to the field.

'I have a broken finger' the wicket-keeper protested. 'Yes,' said the coach. 'But you have nine good fingers, don't you? Now get back with those nine good ones!' In life, you cannot control where the fielders are placed. Nor can you do much about the little finger getting injured. But you can choose your response. Train the mind to focus on the fielders or on the gaps; on the one broken finger or the nine good ones; on the obstacles or the opportunities. The choice is yours!

Next time, you see a problem or an obstacle, think the Ponting way. And see the gaps!

FLY HIGH BUT STAY GROUNDED!!!

Mother is flying a kite. Her son is watching her carefully.

After some time son says "Mom... because of the string the kite is not able to go any further higher". Hearing this, the mother smiles and breaks the string.

The kite goes higher and then shortly comes and falls on the ground. The child is very dejected and sad. The mother sits next to him and calmly explains:

"Son, in life we reach a certain level and then we feel that there are certain things that are not letting us grow any further like Home, Family, Friends, Culture etc.

We feel we want to be free from those strings which we believe are stopping us from going higher.

But, remember son. "Our home, family, friends and culture are the things that help us stay stable at high heights.

If we try to break away from those strings, our condition will be similar to the kite "We'll fall down soon..."

Moral:

"Never go away from Home, Culture, Family, Friends and Relationships as they help keep us stable while we are flying high..."

Life is Beautiful
Stay connected
Fly high, but not by cutting others...

When you're blessed with success, in your life, you must be compelled enough with your good fortune to remember what's important. While success is significant and gratifying, it's imperative that you do not allow your accomplishments and blessings go to your head.

Stressful times are more manageable when you surround yourself with a strong support system. Don't isolate or withdraw from your social circle. Good friends, coworkers, and family members can help take your mind off stressors and/or offer a source of advice or encouragement.

Very important - Call your Family – Regularly

When was the last time you spoke to your Mum or Dad, Sisters and Brothers? Family is important, It is where we came from and how we were shaped in to this world from a young age. I know a few people who don't get along with their parents or siblings but the point of staying in touch with them is not to agree on everything but to remember where you came from and to know what is going on in their lives. Regret is one thing we all don't want and staying in touch with your Parents will help your conscious in the long run.

21 IDEAS, ON HOW CAN I IMPROVE MYSELF WITHIN A MONTH

1. Detoxify your speech. Reduce the use of cuss words. Be polite.
2. Read everyday. Doesn't matter what. Choose whatever interests you.
3. Promise yourself that you will never talk rudely to your parents. They never deserve it.
4. Observe people around you. Imbibe their virtues.
5. Spend some time with nature everyday.
6. Feed the stray animals. Yes, it feels good to feed the hungry.
7. No ego. No ego. No ego. Just learn, learn and learn.
8. Do not hesitate to clarify a doubt. "He who asks a question remains fool for 5 minutes. He who does not ask remains a fool forever".
9. Whatever you do, do it with full involvement. That's meditation.
10. Keep distance from people who give you negative vibes but never hold grudges.
11. Stop comparing yourself with others. If you won't stop, you will never know your own potential.
12. "The biggest failure in life is the failure to try". Always remember this.
13. "I cried as I had no shoes until I saw a man who had no feet". Never complain.
14. Plan your day. It will take a few minutes but will save your days.
15. Everyday, for a few minutes, sit in silence. I mean sit with yourself. Just yourself. Magic will flow.
16. In a healthy body resides a healthy mind. Do not litter it with junk.
17. For one month, eat home cooked meals.
18. Keep your body hydrated at all times. Practice drinking 8–10 glasses of water.
19. Make a habit to eat at least one serving of raw vegetable salad on a daily basis.
20. Take care of your health. "He who has health has hope and he who has hope has everything".
21. Life is short. Life is simple. Do not complicate it. Don't forget to smile.
